DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-36 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The claimed invention is directed to method, apparatus and computer readable storage medium for grouping blocks (sub-frame or short window) of audio to share control parameters (e.g., scale factor). Independent claims 1, 10 and 19 including, inter alia, following features:

(b) obtaining two or more measures of quality such that:

(1) each set in a plurality of sets of groups of the blocks in a respective frame has an associated measure of quality,

(2) each group has one or more blocks,

(3) each set of groups includes all blocks in the respective frame and no block is included in more than one group in each set, and

(4) the measure of quality represents excellence in results obtainable by processing each block in a respective group according to one or more control parameters associated with the respective group;

(c) analyzing the measures of quality to identify a selected set of groups having a minimum number of groups such that a measure of processing performance obtained at least in part from the associated measure of quality is higher than a threshold.

Youn (US Pat. 7, 283,968) discloses a method/apparatus/computer readable medium of grouping short windows (blocks) to share scale factor. Youn discloses first grouping blocks into two preliminary group. If any group is too large, split the large group into two smaller groups. Youn use a simple method to select the number of groups (two or three groups) and decide which short-windows (blocks) are grouped together. Youn does not use optimization method for grouping and fails to disclose the above underlined step c).

Araki (US Pat. 6,456,963) discloses a method of grouping audio blocks to share scale factors. Araki discloses the number of groups is determined based on desired sound quality and coding efficiency. Araki does not use an optimization method to select the number of groups and fails to discloses to the above underlined step c).

Prior art of record, either alone or in combination, does not teach or suggest above underlined limitations in combination with other recited limitations, therefore, fails to anticipate or render obvious the claimed invention.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
